SLOW FOOD USA Slow Food is an international organization and movement that encourages communities to support "good, clean and fair" food. With an emphasis on eating local, Slow Food advocates for growing food in a manner tha and fair" food. With an emphasis on eating local, Slow Food advocates for growing food in a manner tha benefits both the individual and the environment. Chapters all over the world seek to promote universal access to fresh and healthy food, while sharing with others the pleasures of having a delicious meal. This map developed for Wikipedia illustrates the number of chapters by state within the Slow Food USA branch (Source: Slowfoodusa.org) 90 Number of Slow Food Chapters Per State Data Sources: Esri; Slowfoodusa.org Map Developed for Wikipedia's "Slow Food USA" Page (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Slow_food#Slow_Food_USA) Image Sources: Edupics.com; Eatingrules.com USA: North America Albers Equal Area Conic; Latitude: 40°N; Central Meridian: 96°W; Standard Parallels: 20°N and 60°N: 1 Inch Equals 292 Miles Alaska: Alaska Albers Equal Area Conic; Latitude: 50°N; Central Meridian: 154°W; Standard Parallels: 55°N and 65°N; 1 Inch Equals 847 Miles Hawaii: Hawaii Albers Equal Area Conic; Latitude: 13°N; Central Meridian: 157°W; Standard Parallels: 8°N and 18°N: 1 Inch Equals 291 miles Chloë Ouinn Indicates That A Chapter Is Shared By Alabama And Mississippi